

sagittaria 70

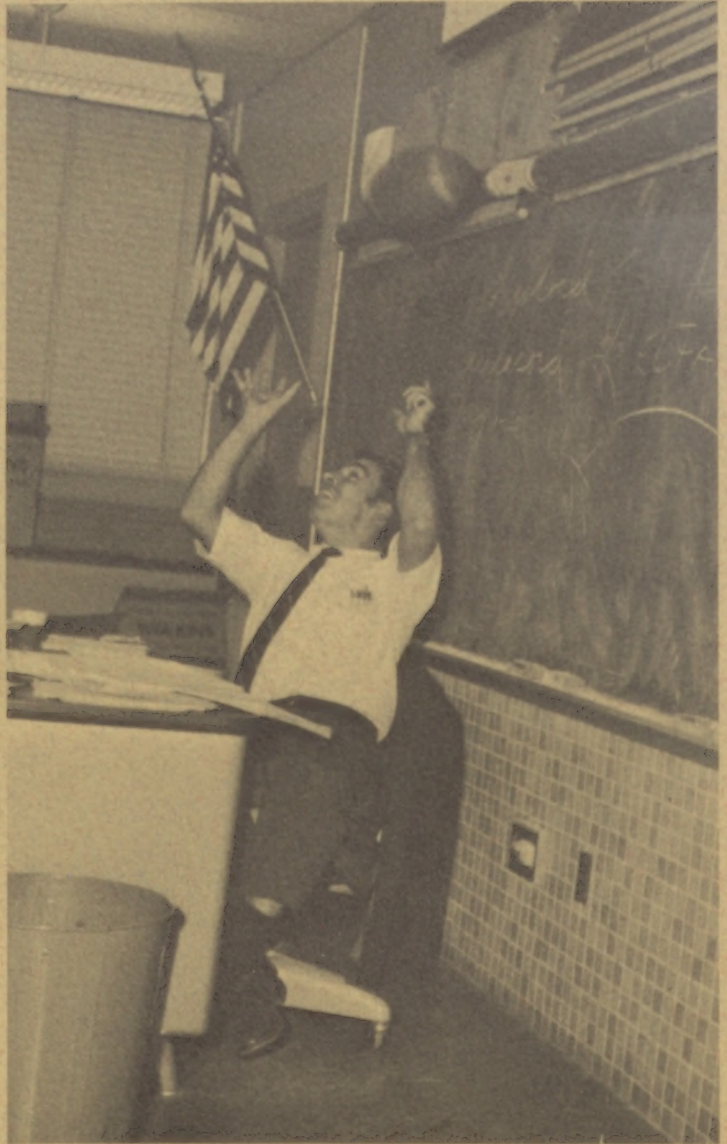

Let the word go forth
from this time and place,
to friend and foe alike,
that the torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans;
so let us begin . . .

presented by

the class of 1970

The line between child and adult is hazy. We frolic on that line.

We've done so many foolish things

and yet, the days have served us well.

Along the way we've learned some things,
you have to make the good times
yourself,
take the little times and make them
into big times.
and save the times that are all right for the ones that aren't so good.

If one advances confidently in the direction of his dreams, and endeavors to live the life which he has imagined, he will meet with a success unexpected
in common hours.

We don't all see things
the same way,

what looks straight isn't always,

and circles lead to other places than confusion.

From the end spring new beginnings.

Each of us has his own world.
If it's not big enough, we borrow.

There will be revolutions
we can touch one day instead of only those that timidly touch us.

You won't believe this but I'm going off to war.
I know that's hard to understand to think of me knee-deep in mud
when I so love the sand.

For every disappointment
there is someone who can make us smile.

Sometimes I'm so elusive
I miss the things worth stopping for.

There will still be little things our memories will keep.

some things known to each other only.

We, at this moment belong to a generation whose lips are touched by fire. Now passing thru one of its crises, the human race thrives on new ideas, new issues — a new call for us to carry on the work of righteousness, charity, courage, patience and loyalty — all these things have come and are daily coming to us.

With our ageing, memories bring back moments to our minds. Let these memories say: That was a great moment . . . the beginning of a new era. We studied, we loved, we labored, unsparingly and hopeful, to be worthy of our generation.

Barefoot in the Park

When we do leave
we leave behind something;
a wrinkle in a gown,
footprints in the grass,
a friend who liked us . . .

senior ball

Remember when the PIRATES OF PENZANCE was over
And that summer of anticipation began.
Who grew tall or acquired acne during the interval?
Then the thrill of going from class to class.
It wasn't long before we forgot the main hall
Was really a half circle, not straight.
Although we were low in rank,
We joined the force as a group;
And sometimes apart; for many new friends
Were found.
We were enthusiastic.
New freedoms acquired.
We could only do good;
Only new things.
We proved our worth
While three classes watched.
All this for five dollars.
I remember a lot of clowns:
Didn't we sit in the office, trying, I guess,
Not to look so scared?
Didn't we laugh about what was then?
I remember Sharon's cellar
Where four people worked while the rest . . .
They puffed on new packs of cigarettes,
Drank Coke, ate Fritos;
I guess they were making out all right.
Didn't we walk, and you know we talked . . .
Talked about discoveries we made sapping
On each others ideas.
Andy, can you tell us how much we need?
"At this rate, we'll have to sell
160,000 more chocolate chip cookies."
(Wasn't that the kind of pudding we once
Got from the cooks?)
I regret the white strings on the jackets.
And what does "Altissima Peto" mean?
"I don't know, but it cost me thirty bucks."
Didn't you love that ring, though?
We became winners again.
Don't you think we were novel?
And didn't '71 set us as their goal?
And there were couples pledging to be inseparable:
Teenybop, but didn't our lives depend on it?

"Remember when we were fat?"
Remember the spirit of '70 landing in the snow bank?
And three names almost landing in jail?
And didn't we start the car washes?
As upper classmen a lot of us were changing
 Physically and mentally.
Our candy committee was well fed on samples . . .
 But we sold our quota,
 And we kept the key to the storage closet,
 And four people stayed after school for
 A month trying to balance the money.
Didn't we break the adding machine four times?
I remember the preparation of the Junior Prom.
I remember the blue pickup truck
 Loaded with a paper maché gorilla.
And didn't more than two people go barefoot
 In that park?
How many people wanted that turf?
Then came another summer;
 And another summer job;
And a magazine drive that 'splurshes'.
And another pep-rally;
And a Ball;
A Banquet;
A well done yearbook;
And now we stand on a stage waiting for
 Our names to be called;
And we look at all the familiar faces that
 Grew up with us in this small town;
And we remember when . . .
When we were crazy;
Happy;
Sad;
Delighted;
Searching;
Experiencing;
When we rang the Academy Bell;
Found answers and lost them in the same day;
Remember all the days we spent
 As the class of nineteen seventy . . .
We did so much;
Remember When . . .?

There are people calling us to act.
The least we can do for ourselves is listen.

Remember when the PIRATES OF PENZANCE was over
And that summer of anticipation began.
Who grew tall or acquired acne during the interval?
Then the thrill of going from class to class.
It wasn't long before we forgot the main hall
Was really a half circle, not straight.
Although we were low in rank,
We joined the force as a group;
And sometimes apart; for many new friends
Were found.
We were enthusiastic.
New freedoms acquired.
We could only do good;
Only new things.
We proved our worth
While three classes watched.
All this for five dollars.
I remember a lot of clowns:
Didn't we sit in the office, trying, I guess,
Not to look so scared?
Didn't we laugh about what was then?
I remember Sharon's cellar
Where four people worked while the rest . . .
They puffed on new packs of cigarettes,
Drank Coke, ate Fritos;
I guess they were making out all right.
Didn't we walk, and you know we talked . . .
Talked about discoveries we made sapping
On each others ideas.
Andy, can you tell us how much we need?
"At this rate, we'll have to sell
160,000 more chocolate chip cookies."
(Wasn't that the kind of pudding we once
Got from the cooks?)
I regret the white strings on the jackets.
And what does "Altissima Peto" mean?
"I don't know, but it cost me thirty bucks."
Didn't you love that ring, though?
We became winners again.
Don't you think we were novel?
And didn't '71 set us as their goal?
And there were couples pledging to be unseparable:
Teenybop, but didn't our lives depend on it?

"Remember when we were fat?"
Remember the spirit of '70 landing in the snow bank?
And three names almost landing in jail?
And didn't we start the car washes?
As upper classmen a lot of us were changing
 Physically and mentally.
Our candy committee was well fed on samples . . .
 But we sold our quota,
 And we kept the key to the storage closet,
 And four people stayed after school for
 A month trying to balance the money.
Didn't we break the adding machine four times?
I remember the preparation of the Junior Prom.
I remember the blue pickup truck
 Loaded with a paper maché gorilla.
And didn't more than two people go barefoot
 In that park?
How many people wanted that turf?
Then came another summer;
 And another summer job;
And a magazine drive that 'splurshes'.
And another pep-rally;
And a Ball;
A Banquet;
A well done yearbook;
And now we stand on a stage waiting for
 Our names to be called;
And we look at all the familiar faces that
 Grew up with us in this small town;
And we remember when . . .
When we were crazy;
Happy;
Sad;
Delighted;
Searching;
Experiencing;
When we rang the Academy Bell;
Found answers and lost them in the same day;
Remember all the days we spent
 As the class of nineteen seventy . . .
We did so much;
Remember When . . .?

Best Wishes to the Class of "1970"

I had not lived here a week before my feet wore a path.

If you listened hard enough you might have heard what I meant to say.

Some believe there is nothing one man can do against the enormous array of the world's ills . . .

but each of us can work to change a small portion of events — and in the total of all these acts will be written the history of this generation.
